BugGiRL

Australian Rock 'n' Roll Warriors BugGiRL follow the dusty footsteps of their rockin' ancestors AC/DC, Rose Tattoo and The Divinyls. This monster of a two-piece band evolved in 2003 from a brother/sister psychic rock connection. In November 2004, BugGiRL and Big Wig Records released their debut album "Looming Shadows". The first single "Suck it" rocketed to No. 4 in December 2004 on 4ZzzFM Australia. More attention was given to the banning of the song and video from various commercial and conservative stations. At a full-blown Rock n' Roll live show described as "the sound of Nick Oliveri pounding Jon Spencer's head against a bass drum", front woman unleashes the fury on his drum kit of death.

ROCKASS

Punk 'n' Roll band from Berlin, launched in 2002 and influenced by bands such as Turbonegro, New Bomb Turks, Stooges, and Motörhead. In the beginning, ROCKASS attacked the stages as a five-piece band with Youtah and Han Solo (git), Sexadviser (dr), Firecat (b) and Bob Supervisor (voc) and recorded their first CD „Strike“. After Firecat left the band in 2004, Han Solo changed to the bass guitar and they continued as a four-piece. In the same year, they recorded their second CD "Ass of Spades". ROCKASS is considered as a striking high-energy live act. They deliver a performance of high-speed bombs and unite the rough energy of punk rock with the dirty power of rock 'n' roll. Tight and ass-kicking!

GRIZOU- Punk aus Berlin

... either quick or slow, this music can be what you want it to be, but has to provide room to two guitars, a bass and a drum, and in case that you absolutely need a genre, then this music fits the punk bill, right?
